Resource Guide

Active Listening to Support Inclusive Teaching

"We think we listen, but very rarely do we listen with real understanding, true empathy. Yet listening, of this veryspecial kind, is one of the most potent forces for change that I know Rogers

Active listening is asommunication practicewherean individual intentionally and authentically concentrates on another person in order to nvey sincere interestAseducators, active listening can help create a space where students calmink more clearly about what they are saying and thinking a result, active